

NACON 2011 – CHARLOTTE, NC

“Dependability, Integrity, Diversity”

CANADIAN COAST GUARD AUXILIARY

Ted Smith, National President

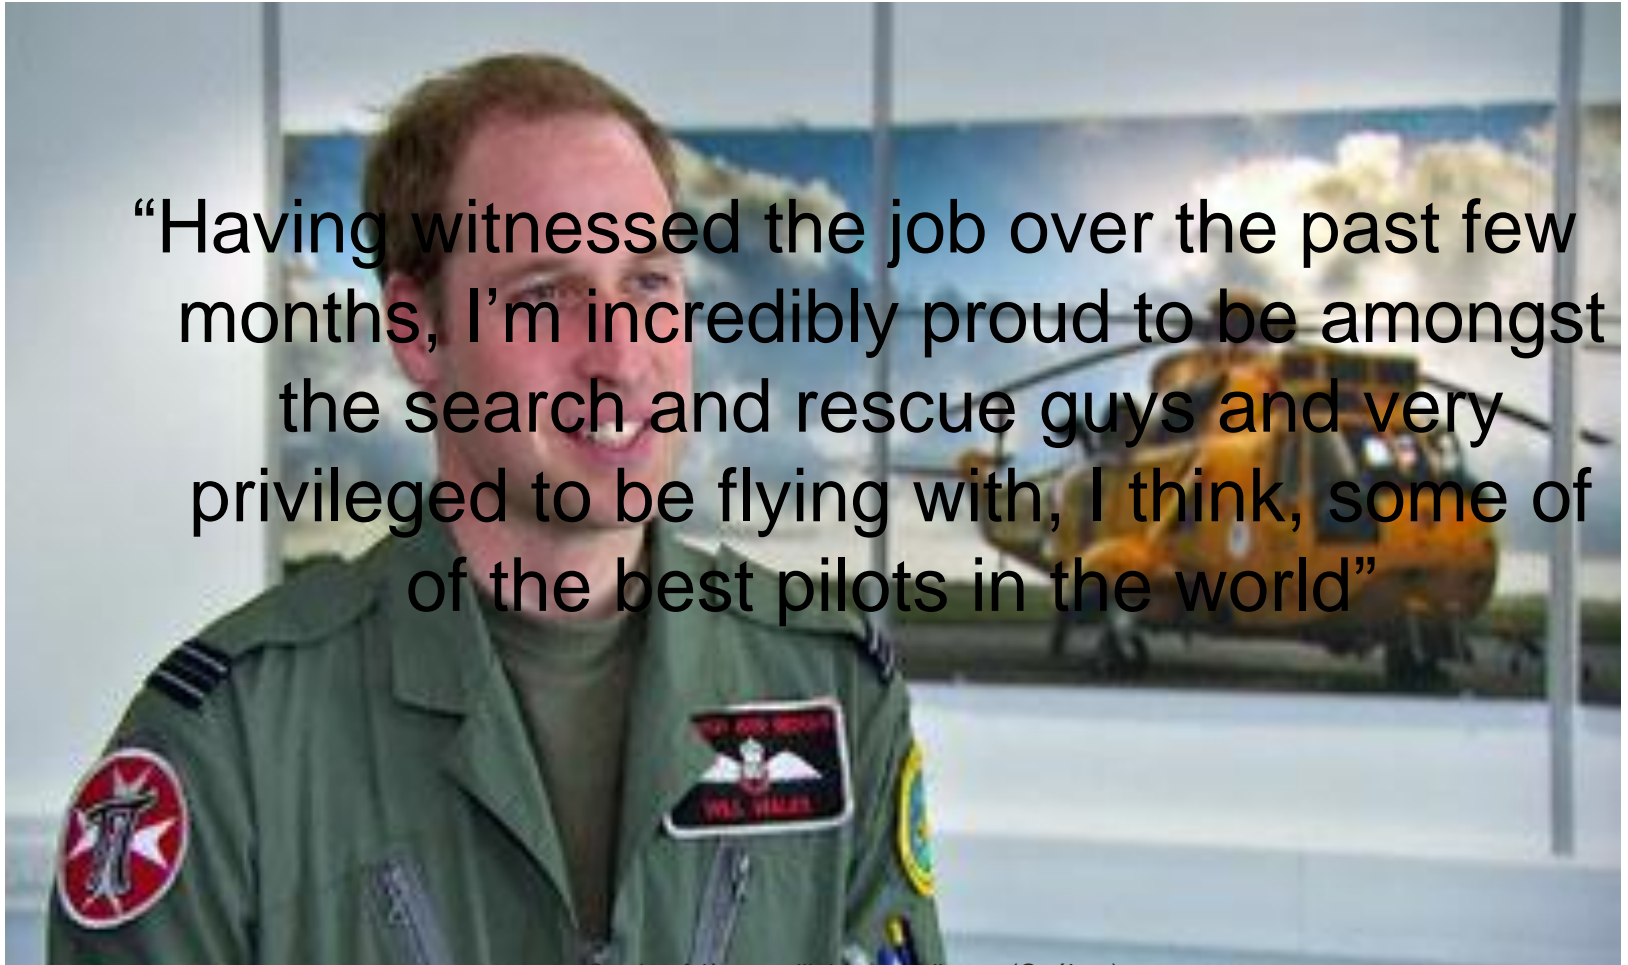

CCGA named one of the charities selected by the Royal Couple for wedding gift

“The goal here is to acknowledge and lend support to a small number of voluntary and charitable organizations saving lives and rebuilding hope in three different parts of the world, in particular the Royal Flying Doctor Service of Australia, the Canadian Coast Guard Auxiliary and the New Zealand Christchurch Earthquake Appeal.”

Prince William: SAR PILOT

“Having witnessed the job over the past few months, I’m incredibly proud to be amongst the search and rescue guys and very privileged to be flying with, I think, some of the best pilots in the world”

Garde coteiere auxiliaire canadienne (Québec)

- Canada's wedding gift for Prince William and Kate Middleton was a $50,000 donation to the Canadian Coast Guard Auxiliary
- Prime Minister Stephen Harper said the government of Canada will offer this gift on behalf of all Canadians.
- The donation will provide a permanent search-and-rescue program, and help prevent injuries or loss of life at sea.
